

Join me on a journey through the world of art!

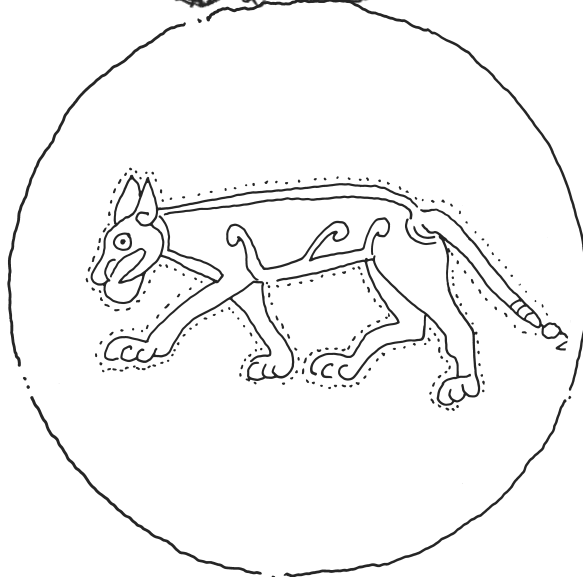

Along the way you'll see many famous paintings that you can finish and add to, color in, or even change—any way you like.

as old as the hills ...

somewhat newer...

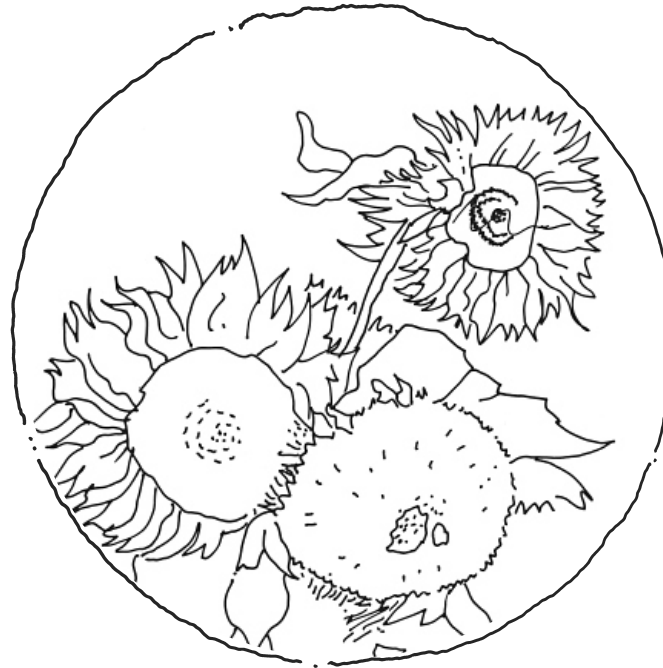

very old ...

You only need
your favorite paints
or crayons!

As much as possible the works of art are organized according to their birthdays: the oldest ones are first, and the newest ones are at the end.

But if you prefer, of course you can also draw and paint your way through the book in any order you like ...

almost completely new

because, after all,
this is YOUR
big art book !

somewhat newer

absolutely brand new

In the caves of Lascaux in France researchers have discovered the oldest pictures in the world. This one here is called the "Second Chinese Horse" and it's over 17,000 years old!

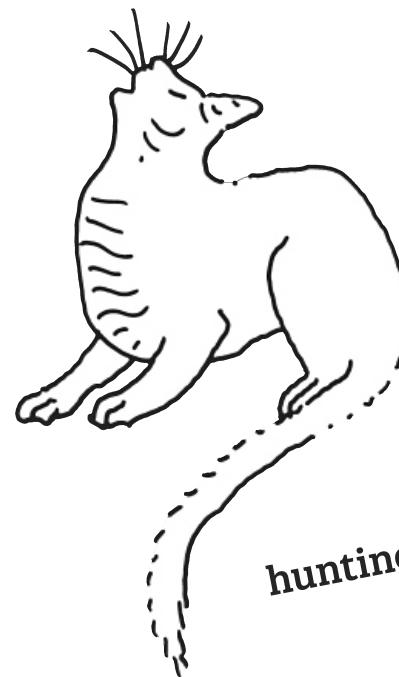

What would you like to paint on the wall?

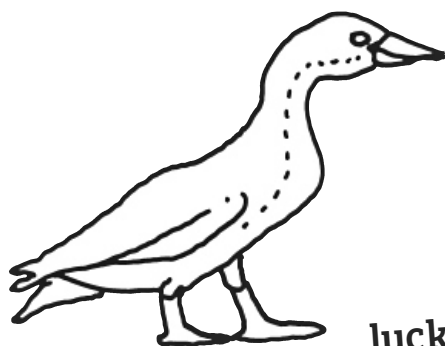

Hopefully the Egyptian hunter doesn't hit a bird with that boomerang of his.

fat cat

hunting cat

lucky duck

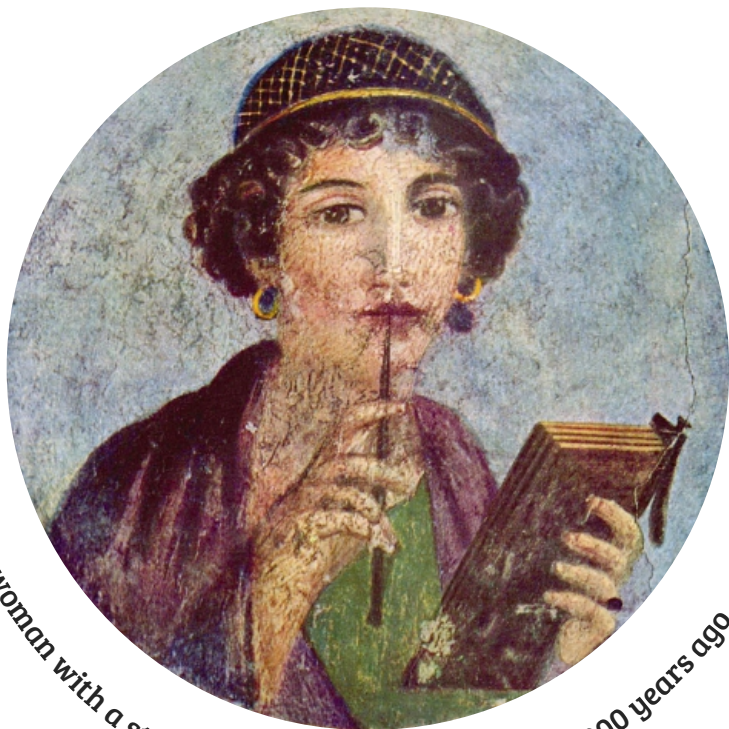

winged moth

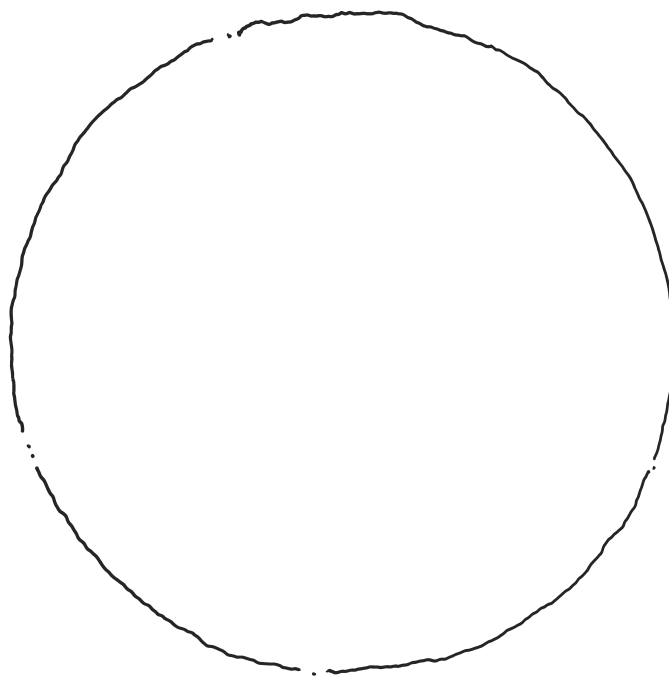

How many different animals can you find?

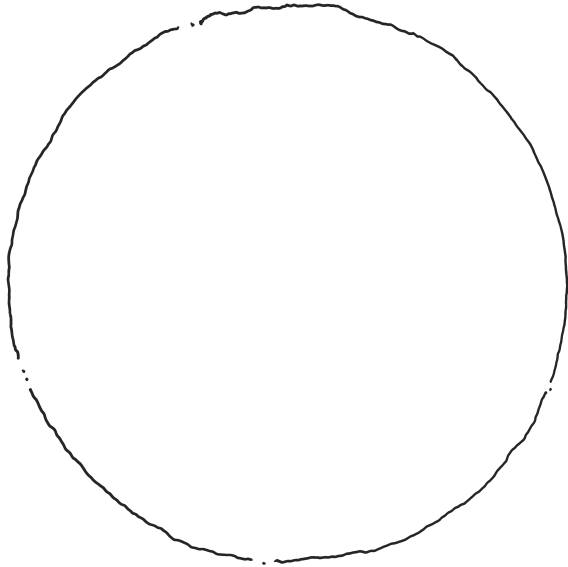

Paul the Pig in the Ancient Roman Empire

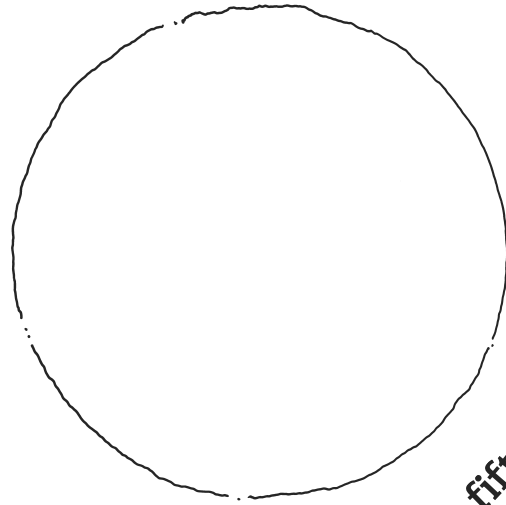

a young woman with a stylus and writing tablet around 2,000 years ago

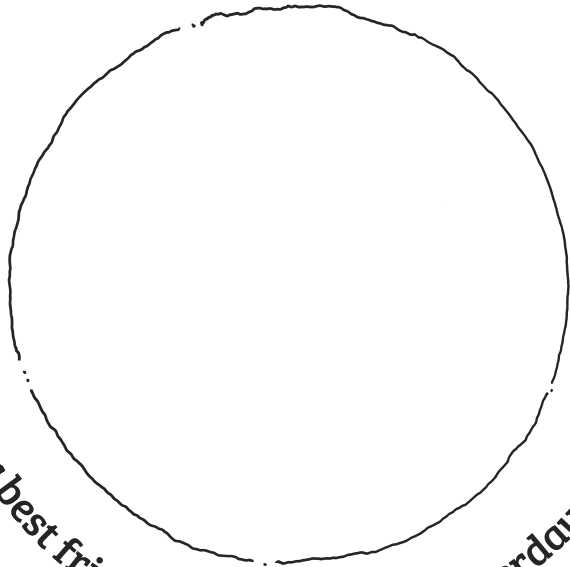

me in the year ...

my best friend today

my goofiest teacher in fifty years

my other best friend the day before yesterday

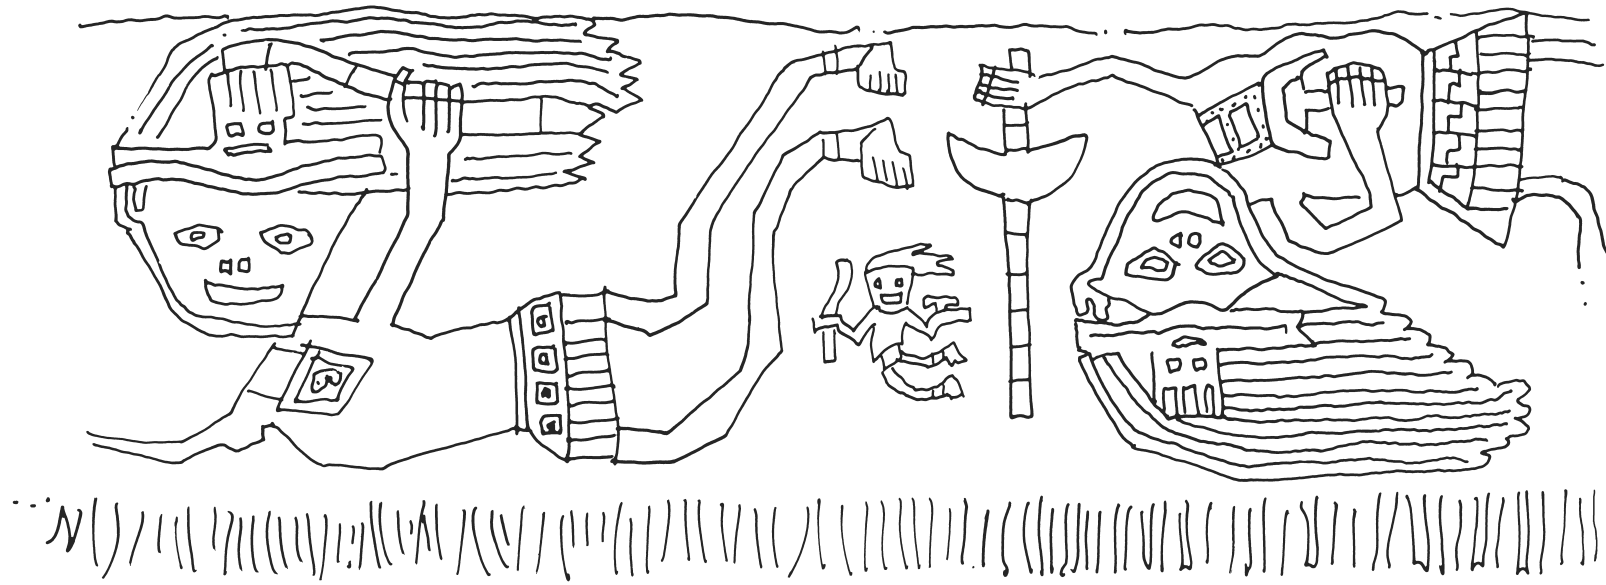

a wall painting from Pompeii in my favorite color

Sometimes very old works of art can seem much newer than recent ones, don't you agree?

This border from Peru is almost 1,900 years old.

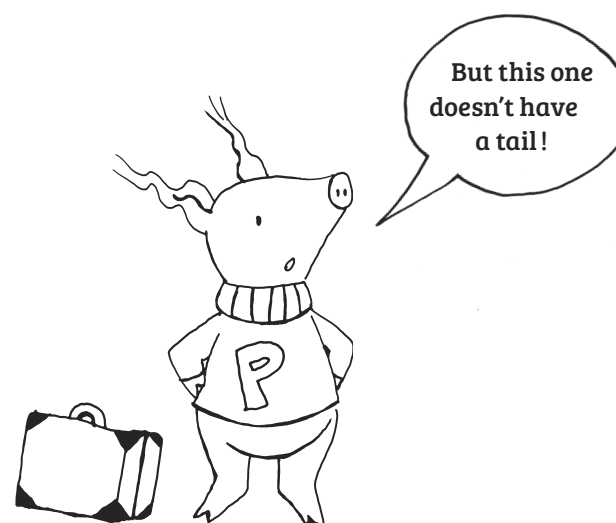

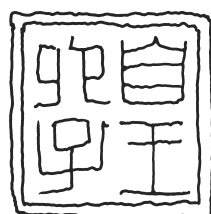

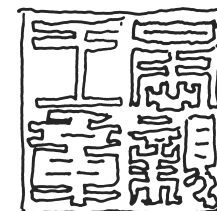

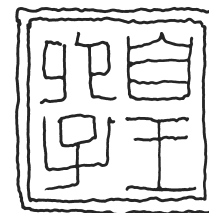

Would you like to finish it?

Another Chinese horse already? But this one really is from China.
